Preface

The twenty-third edition of Library of Congress Subject Headings (LCSH 23) contains subject headings created by catalogers and used in cataloging at the Library of Congress since 1898.

This edition contains headings established through December 1999. Responsibility for the maintenance of the data base is held by the staff of the Subject Headings Editorial Team under the direction of the editor, Ronald A. Goudreau. Barbara Barnes, David Bowman, Bonnie Briscoe, Claudia Coleman, and Elizabeth Rinn edited headings in the data base.

The Cataloging Distribution Service (CDS) produced LCSH from records in the USMARC subject authorities format. CDS generated authority and reference entries from the MARC records, sorted the entries, and formatted the data into page images. The resulting magnetic tape of photocomposed data was used to drive a typesetting device.

Use of these symbols in the expression of relationships between headings is explained in the Introduction.

For those libraries maintaining manual card catalogs, the following may be used as a guide.

The change in codes for cross references does not require users to alter the style of cross reference cards made for card catalogs.

The USE and UF can be translated into "see" and "see from" respectively.

The BT and RT can be translated into "see also from".

The SA and NT can be translated into "see also".

 Here are entered works on foreign-born persons who enter a country intending to become permanent residents or citizens. This heading may be locally subdivided by names of places where immigrants settle. For works discussing emigrants from a particular place, an additional heading is assigned to designate the nationality of origin of the emigrant group and the place to which they have immigrated, e.g. Chinese—United States; Americans—Foreign countries.
